

ENGAGE, EDUCATE AND EMPOWER

VOICES OF THE LATINO COMMUNITY

Improving air quality and fighting climate change will only work if the solutions are affordable to everyone. And even though Latinos will be disproportionately impacted by a rushed energy transition – California politicians and media are failing to include Latino voices on energy issues.

That's why Levanta Tu Voz (Raise Your Voice), a program of the Western States Petroleum Association, was created – to engage, educate and empower voices of the Latino community. We want to share your story and remind policymakers that everyday Californians need real solutions that work for all of us – not just the wealthy. It's crucial policymakers hear your voice.

WE ARE INVITING YOU TO:

- Learn how energy policies can impact your family, community, and business.
- Share your personal story about the importance of affordable and reliable energy.
- Attend a workshop to learn how to speak to media and policymakers.
- Speak to the media and policymakers about your unique energy needs and concerns.
